Orland Resident Dies In Auto-Train Crash

A Joliet business man who resides in Orland township was killed on Wednesday of last week when his automobile slid or ran into a northbound Wabash passenger train on the 159th street crossing.

The victim was Nicholas Kovacevich, 52, of 14915 Eighty-second ave., president of the United Liquor and Beverage Co., Budweiser distributors in the Joliet and Homewood areas, a business with which he had been affiliated all of his working life.

A coroner's jury was empaneled and the inquest was started at the Schmaedke funeral home but continued because one of the engine crew was unable to be present.

Details regarding the accident appear to be lacking. It was related, however, that the train was traveling north and that the accident took place around the noon hour. The victim's auto was dragged for a considerable distance along the tracks, Kovacevich was pinned behind the steering wheel.

Kovacevich was born in Joliet and lived there until about a year ago when he moved to Orland township so he would be closer to the Homewood operation.

Last year a truck driver was killed at this same crossing when he apparently didn't see the train in time to stop. There are flasher signals to guard this crossing but no gates.

Kovacevich is survived by his wife, Rose, three sons, Nicholas Jr., who is a member of the firm, Daniel and Richard, who are younger; a daughter, Nedra; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kovacevich, Sr. of Joliet, a brother, Sam, Jr. of California.

The body was taken to the Tezak funeral home in Joliet from where services were held last Saturday afternoon to the St. George Serbian Orthodox church. Burial was in Woodlawn Memorial Park cemetery, Joliet.

At the time of his death he was the pastor of the Advent church at Jamestown.

Hits Water Too Hard, Too Fast, Gets Ticket

A Frankfort man, Billy Staton, Rt. 1, was given a ticket Sunday afternoon by state police for driving too fast for conditions. He hit a pool of water under the Rock Island trestle on U.S. 45 and the car went out of control, plunging off the road into some trees.

There were four passengers, in the car, Staton's brothers, Lewis, 19, and Charles, 14, Carol Elwell, 16, and Paul Stael, 18, all of Frankfort.

The five were taken to Silver Cross hospital at Joliet, treated for minor injuries and released.

Frankfort Moves To Rid Water Supply Of Rust

Frankfort housewives who have complained now and then of rust in the water -- as iron deposits are usually referred to -- were given a cheering message at the village board meeting Monday night.

The village council has purchased a chemical system which is sold for the express purpose of ending problems arising from discolored water due to iron.

If the system fails to live up to the company's promises or the village board is not satisfied with its performance the company will take back the equipment and refund the money, according to the deal set forth by Ted Schmid, sales representative of the Alexander Chemical Co., Chicago.

The village has two wells. The equipment used to introduce the chemical, a complex phosphate, into the mains will cost the village $304 per well, installed. The chemical, which is described as odorless, tasteless and non-toxic, will cost the village between .8 of a cent and a cent and a half per thousand gallons of water treated. Village Clerk Walter Pfaff estimated that on an average -- winter and summer -- the water department pumps 60-thousand gallons a day. One of the wells will require more chemical than the other, it was said, but Pfaff estimates the average cost of the chemical will run between $30 and $35 a month.

Housewives who have had laundry come out of the washer spotted with rust and are ever on the watch for more powerful bleaching agents to cleanse plumbing fixtures of ugly red stains say that it would be worth any reasonable figure to get away from the red water that plagues them on occasions.

Before the system can be installed, however, the village must have a permit from the state health department. It is possible that Frankfort has such a permit still in existence from its trial of a chemical several years ago that was supposed to keep the iron in solution but didn't.

Schmid told the board that it usually takes a month for a permit to go thru so it is likely the change will not be made until sometime in April. The board wants to flush the waterlines thoroughly before installing the chemical system.

Mayor George Sangmeister reported that the blacktopping of White and Nebraska streets is on the state's list of jobs to be done this summer, according to word he has received from the highway department.

The mayor also reported that he had talked with officials of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and had been assured that Frankfort had not been forgotten. A couple of years or so ago Frankfort residents signed a petition, which was filed with the telephone company, asking to get toll-free service to Joliet and other communities in the Joliet area. Now the only toll free phone connection Frankfort has is with Mokena.

The mayor said that phone officials told him they have to check back -- sort of a cross examination as it were -- to find if the phone subscribers of Frankfort want to be hooked up with Joliet or Peotone.

The mayor and trustees are glad that their request is not forgotten and that the petition apparently still exists but they still want to get some action. They pointed out that at the present rate of progress it would be a long time before Frankfort is no longer a telephone island.

Trustee Wayne DePorto called attention to the fact that a new insurance rate is now effective in Frankfort because of a change in the classification given by the Illinois Inspection and Rating Bureau -- a cheaper rate.

DePorto suggested that a policy due on the village hall be held up and a new one rewritten and with the specific understanding that the local insurance firms divide the premiums evenly.

Trustee Milton Subbert said he had been approached on making Oak Street a southbound one -- way thoroughfare between Kansas and Nebraska street. Ash is now one-way north from Nebraska to Kansas. The board will consider the request.

Nominating petitions filed for the three places to be open on the village board this spring were approved. The time for withdrawal has passed and there are seven candidates. Three are incumbents, Clyde Reils, John Topp and Wayne DePorto. The others are Robert Dean, George Zwolinski, Frank A. Eisenbrandt and Paul A. Lambrecht.

The contractor cutting trees reported he had about 11 more to go before downing the agreed number, about 70, but he still has a lot of stumps to remove and a lot of trees to burn. He took the job for $34.50 a tree. The village pays off at the rate of $100, a month, plus interest on the unpaid balance.

Lower Insurance Rates On Some Frankfort Buildings

Improvement in fire protection facilities in Frankfort has resulted in an improvement in the rating classification for the Village, from Class 8 to Class 7.

This classification means a lower insurance rate on certain types of buildings in the commercial and factory category but as yet will have no effect on the rates on dwellings, it was learned from the Illinois Inspection and Rating Bureau, which sets the fire insurance rates.

If the fire district continues to improve its protection facilities as it has it is reported likely that eventually the rates on dwellings will be lowered too.

Many factors are considered in establishing insurance classifications and rates, it was explained, including the water supply, the number of hydrants the amount of equipment and hose a fire department has, the manpower and its availability, and training, types of buildings, people, existence of fire hazards and a number of other things.

The Frankfort fire department has been adding to facilities, according to Chief Fred Kohlhagen to improve the protection the fire district offers.

School Complains About Ice Conditions On U.S. 30

A rather freak icy spot on US Highway #30, directly in front of the Lincoln-Way high school, was responsible for several accidents recently. The entire road from New Lenox to Frankfort became glazed Saturday night (Feb. 23) making the driving extremely hazardous for the basketball fans attending the Lincoln-Way-Bremen game.

Later that same night George Ruhl, 829 S. Cedar, New Lenox, completely wrecked his car in front of the school. Mr. Ruhl was hospitalized at Silver Cross for several days but is presently recovering at his home.

school officials, Nine years ago the Illinois Highway Department purchased a 90 foot right-of-way from the Lincoln-Way board of education for the purpose of widening the road in front of the school and making a four-lane road on into Joliet.

The policy of the school has been to promote a safer highway for their students and staff members, a spokesman declared, even it has had what he termed "little cooperation from the state highway department or from the county board of supervisors."

"Last year the county board members were on the opinion that taverns along Route 30 would have no effect upon the safety of the students and driving conditions along this part of the highway. "In fact, one county board member stated the school should have been located elsewhere if the matter of highway safety was so important," the spokesman concluded.

Mokena School Board Re-hires Supt. Ennis

At the last regular board meeting of the local grade school, Supt. James Ennis was re-hired for the 1963-64 school year and teachers salaries were established and placed on an index schedule.

Dave Friant and George Carlisle, members of the board of directors of Weitendorf school district #154, were at the meeting to acquaint the Mokena Board with their plans for possible dissolution of the Weitendorf district. The Mokena board has agreed to support the annexation, if the matter comes before the county school trustees.

A mimeographed copy of school policies, procedures, rules and regulations are available to all Board members, teachers and any interested citizens.

The board has okayed the expense of sending one teacher to a two and a half day workshop, March 28-30, in Chicago. The "Modern Math" workshop is conducted by Science Research Associates and Mrs. Janet McGovern will attend. The workshop included experimentation with modern math programs which have already revealed that children in fourth and fifth grades can pursue creative and original mathematical activities, but such activities call for unusually well trained teachers.

At the adjourned board meeting on Feb. 25 it was reported that there are 20 children receiving speech therapy by a speech correctionist. It was also reported that there are six children on the waiting list. Mrs. Harriet Westerlund works with children from the New Lenox, Frankfort, Manhattan, and Mokena areas and it was pointed out that the program has grown to the point that another teacher is needed. Mr. Ennis was appointed by the board to investigate the matter further.

Gymnastic Team Makes Debut At Lincoln-Way

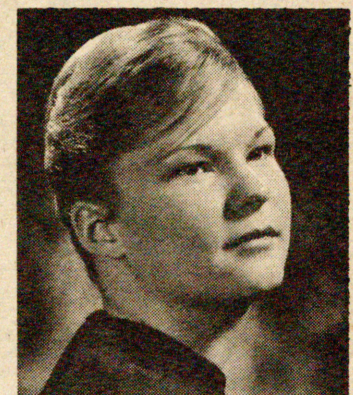

On Feb. 26, Lincoln-Way's gymnastics team made its debut under the direction of Coach Jerome Wiedman.

Coach Wiedman pointed out that although gymnastics is a team sport, the gymnasts perform on the apparatus against boys of their own caliber. The six pieces of apparatus that are used are the trampoline, side horse, horizontal bar, parallel bars, still rings and tumbling. Each team competes with three participants on each apparatus. The gymnasts are judged on the basis of 100 possible points by two judges. The scores are then added together for a final score.

The point system for team scoring is as follows: first, seven points; second five points; third, four points; fourth three points; fifth, two points, and sixth, one point.

The first meet was held at Rich East high school. Altho Rich won the meet, the Lincoln-Way gymnasts did a fine job. Out of a possible six places the following gymnasts achieved these honors on the respective apparatus: trampoline, Peter Demus, third; side horse, Bill Ewing, third; horizontal bar, Dave Duffy, third; and still rings, Dave Duffy, second.

Following the meet with Rich East, Lincoln-Way met Oak Lawn on March 1. The following are the results. Trampoline, Peter Demus, third; side horse, Denny Cappel, third; horizontal bar, Dave Duffy, second; still rings, Dave Duffy, first and tumbling, Roger Ball, third. There will be one home meet this year, that being a return engagement with Oak Lawn on Friday March 8 at 4 o'clock in the school gymnasium. The gymnastics meet is free and open to the public.

Two-Teacher Schools On Way Out

The one-room school is extinct in Will county and there are few left in the state.

The one-room school, as the name implies, conducted classes for grades from one thru eight, in one room with one teacher to do the job.

Some years ago educational authorities began the elimination of the one-room schools on the grounds that they did not provide sufficient educational opportunities.

Many districts merged with others and so a large number of two- and three-room schools cropped up with the work divided between two teachers.

Now it is apparent that the two-teacher school is also on the way out.

Under the law the state superintendent of public instruction is empowered to set up regulations and standards for the schools of the state. Schools that fail to conform with these regulations are not recognized by the state superintendent.

This means that such schools would not share in state aid funds and the pupils would have difficulty in getting into high schools.

Naturally no school districts care to be listed in such a category so when the state superintendent of public instruction sets up regulations they are followed.

According to information obtained by school officials a new regulation is expected to be put into effect next fall that will sound the knell to two-teacher schools, unless such schools are limited to grades one thru six.

The regulation that would bring this about is one that will limit a teacher's work load to three grades.

Therefore, a school with grades one thru eight would have to hire a third teacher.

Rural schools, like their urban counterparts, can no longer hire teachers at a low rate of pay. Most of the rural schools now have to pay as much as a city school if they are to get capable teachers.

It is a teacher's market today. With the steady growth of enrollments there is a heavy demand for teachers and districts who cannot or will not meet competitive salary figures have to be satisfied with teachers of lesser ability.

Hiring of these extra teachers are expected to increase the educational tax rates in districts effected. If a district is up to the limit of its rate then it will have to hold a referendum to increase the figure to the amount necessary to bring in sufficient revenue. Naturally, the rates will vary according to the assessed valuation of the district.

Will County School Superintendent Verne E. Crackel said that while the regulation referred to above has not been officially announced it is his belief, as well as other school officials, that it will be established and become effective next fall. He said he felt he would be remiss in his duties if he did not apprise districts which would be effected that such a regulation was in the cards.

If, as anticipated, these extra teachers will have to be hired and districts are turned down by the people in a referendum to increase educational rates, Supt. Crackel said, they will be faced with deficit financing if their present rates are inadequate.

We are setting forth this information to acquaint the public with the situation.

Supt. Crackel announced the impending regulations concerning the work load of teachers at a recent meeting held for the purpose of discussing the possible division of the Weitendorf school district and adding one part to the Frankfort district, and the other part--north of U.S. 30--to the Mokena grade school district.

He emphasized, however, that he brought the matter up that the public was informed and it was not to be construed as a threat or a means of coercion to bring about a merger from the three districts mentioned.

Nor are we bringing up subject with any idea of attempting to offer the Weitendorf residents any advice as to what they should do, we are merely being informative. We believe the people who reside in the Weitendorf school district are quite capable of deciding what is best for the children and the property owners and that they will do what is right.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

The horse and buggy is seldom seen except in films or TV any more and one may say that the buffalo herds are scarce too without much fear of contradiction.

The urbanizing of the land is largely responsible for the disappearance of the horse and buggy. As cities grew out into the country man found he needed speedier transportation and developed the automobile. What the future may bring is a matter of conjecture. Some say air travel will replace the automobile but it could even become too crowded for that and man forced to resort to his own two legs again to take him here and there.

The buffalo was exterminated by hunters and tillage, with a sprinkling of malice aforethought as a means of killing off the Indians without the expense of using troops and bullets.

There are many other things that have disappeared too as a result of modern living and more will be going. There was talk of replacing our tables of weights and measures with the metric system but we are inclined to believe that we will retain what we have.

We don't believe that the geniuses of the advertising agencies will ever accept the metric system. They have succeeded now in giving the public a new image and it is not likely they will lose it without a struggle.

The new image referred to is the half-quart. The pint has joined the shades of the horse and buggy and the buffalo herds. The measure is still with us--16 good ounces--but the word is gone. The pint is now the half-quart and the ad lads don't ever let you forget it.

Prior to Prohibition one having a case of beer delivered at his house designated whether he wanted a case of pints or a case of quarts and was perfectly satisfied.

Then along came some genius whose name is unknown who figured out that a lot of money would be made by substituting a 12 ounce package for the regular 16 and the fifth--26 ounces--for the quart. The containers look about the same and the public came to accept them and the fact that they cost just as much--and later much more--than the original packages.

Competition among the cola makers finally led to a change. One company began increasing the size of their bottles. The other companies had to follow suit and the action sucked in the other pop manufacturers and finally the beer and liquor firms joined the big parade. Bottles have gone from king to family size and it is to be supposed that eventually we will have the economy family size, the big economy family size, the big imperial economy family size and the jet and space packages.

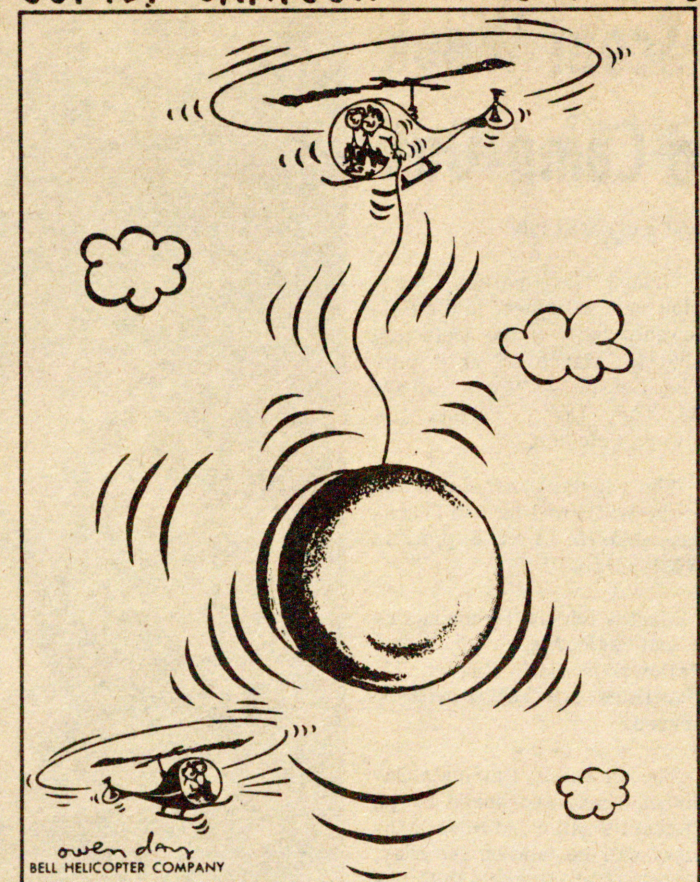

The distillers are featuring quarts and larger sizes, apparently working up for restoration of the demijohn, which is quite a dollop of liquor. The breweries have gone back to pints and quarts. The English never got away from it. One was able to get his pint of ale, his pint of bitter, his pint of stout, porter or 'alf-and-'alf around the time of William the Conqueror it is supposed, and the custom never changed. An Englishman is a hardy soul and thru heritage and training is able to face up to things and keep on going in the face of tremendous odds. He has seen the Empire crumbling and has preserved his serenity, convinced that in the end Britain will prevail.

Take his colonies, his home, ment program--Armco, Pfizer, Allegheny Power, Phillips Petroleum, Du Pont, Stauffer Chemical, General Motors, IBM, National Lead, Standard Oil of California, Standard Oil of N.J., Continental Casualty, General Electric, U.S. Gypsum, and Bank of America.

Life insurance stocks continue to be favorites of a number of analysts.

The life insurance industry has had much better than average growth. Since the beginning of this century, assets of life insurance companies have approximately doubled every ten years. A large contribution to this excellent financial record, is due to the higher life expectancy levels brought about by improved medical and surgical care as well as preventive therapy. Improvement in individual incomes and high standards of living, have brought about a considerable increase in the amount of insurance per family.

his possessions, pauperize him thru confiscatory taxation but don't. . .DON'T tamper with his booze--don't dilute or short his measure if you would avoid the capital-T kind of trouble.

An Englishman's home may be his castle and all that sort of thing but it would be safer to burn or pillage it than to short or dilute his drinks. Do that and one begins to realize what those big housecarls, armed with huge battleaxes who served as bodyguards for Saxon kings, must have been like in the frenzy of battle.

The Englishman is satisfied with his pint as long as it is a pint. We Americans, however, are being taught to look for quantity. The supermarkets, the discount houses, the mail order firms are all endeavoring to persuade us that we are getting more for our money if we buy such and such--in the big, big, big economy size.

Manufacturers have had to reduce regular sizes to make room for these big ones. Free samples are now larger than the regular size and the giant is about what the regular used to be. Whether the contents increase could be a question but the containers get larger anyway.

Everything is larger today in the United States, especially talk and taxes. The school people urge us to think big these days and the ad people are helping us. Naturally in the face of such a campaign the pint had to go. To get a half quart sounds like we are getting a lot more. The dairies went even further, they don't bother with pints anymore, even as half-quarts. We still have pints of ice cream--that are anything else than pints--and castor oil but otherwise they are fading fast.

The public is going for the half-quart in a big way but somehow we can't see it accepting the half-liter called for in the metric system. It would take too much figuring to determine whether one was getting more or less.

Jefferson P. Throttlebottom has a different view. He says it is easy to figure liters--one can get half-lit on a half-liter of malt beverage and lit entirely on a liter.

START COOL SEASON
VEGETABLES NOW

Illinois home gardeners, anxious to "get into the swing" of garden activities after a long winter, can start most of their favorite cool season vegetables inside, says University of Illinois horticulturist J.S. Vandemark.

Cool season vegetables include early sweet onion, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage cauliflower and head lettuce. Start these plants now so they will be ready for the garden just as soon as the danger of a killing frost is over.

Start warm season plants 3 to 5 weeks before transplanting time. Such plants include tomato, pepper, eggplant, cucumber, muskmelon and watermelon. Home gardeners can start almost any of the vegetables they use, except sweet corn, and then transplant them.

For best results, start seeds in a soil mixture made of two parts well-fertilized loam soil and one part peat moss or well-rotted manure. Good drainage is essential, says Vandemark, so you may need to add sand or sphagnum moss to "loosen" soil.

When selecting seed, look for adapted varieties that are treated against seed-borne diseases. If seed is untreated, use Captan, Arasan or any of the recommended copper compound seed treatments. Follow the label directions carefully, Vandemark advises.

Cool season vegetable seed will germinate at 55 degrees F. Warm season vegetable seeds need temperatures of at least 60 to 65 degrees; 75 degrees is more desirable, Vandemark suggests.

A wooden flat two inches deep and slotted for drainage makes a good container to start plants in. But if the gardener is using either the basement or porch for his "green thumb" activities, it's best to make some provision for collecting drained water, he adds.

Starting the seeds in commercial peat pots or clay pots cuts down on root loss during transplanting. The added effort of potting will pay, says Vandemark. Pots restrict the roots to the plant. If plants are grown in a flat, they produce spreading roots, part of which are destroyed, adding to the shock of transplanting. The home gardener can make an inexpensive "pot" by removing the top and bottom from a No. 2 can or a milk carton. When transplanting time arrives, such a container gives added protection against cutworms and spring winds, Vandemark suggests.

Watering the plants properly may mean the difference between success and failure. Vandemark recommends watering in the morning only, letting the plants dry off during the day. Moisture on the plants during the day may start disease that can wipe out the entire "plant-starting" project, he cautions.

Circular 816, "Illinois Vegetable Garden Guide," will be available soon at your farm adviser's office. This circular offers valuable tips to the home gardener.

Hints For Homeowners

Recently it has been reported that various cures have been found for Dutch elm disease. Unfortunately, these reports are not based on fact. Several promising materials are being tested by experiment stations thruout the U.S.

The process of evaluation requires laboratory testing of the materials on the fungus which causes the disease. Materials which prevent growth of the fungus are tried on trees which have been inoculated with the fungus to see if the trees will absorb the material in sufficient quantities to stop the progress of the disease. No material has successfully passed this rigorous test.

Lay persons in various parts of the country have claimed that trees treated with various chemicals have been cured. However, these persons have failed to show that the trees were actually infected with Dutch elm disease before treatment.

Even with sufficient evidence that the tree was actually infected and survived after treatment, this fact could be attributed as positively to chance as to the treatment. Single cases of cure are not sufficient evidence on which to base recommendations. Until a sure cure is found, the best way to protect trees is with proper

Blue Cross, Blue Shield Drive Opens

The annual membership drive for Blue Cross and Blue Shield members is now on by the Will County Health Improvement Association. The kickoff luncheon was held last Thursday in Fellowship hall of the New Lenox Methodist church.

Members sought at this time are persons under 65 years of age who are self-employed, work in groups of less than 10, or reside on a farm or in a town of less than 2,500 population. Members over 65 are sought in the fall.

Workers in this area include Mrs. Emma Scott, New Lenox; Mrs. Alma Brown, Mokena; Mrs. Katharine Heisner and Mrs. Clara Bennett, of Frankfort, and Mrs. Rudolph Urbano, of Lincoln Estates.

sanitation measures (prompt removal of dead or dying elms) and an intelligent preventative spray program. The recommended spray is DDT or the safer Methoxychlor when applied BEFORE THE BUDS SWELL IN SPRING. The small twigs must be thoroughly covered. Once the leaves come out the possibility of covering the small branches is reduced. SUMMER SPRAYS ARE OF LITTLE, IF ANY, VALUE and are much more likely to cause injury to birds.

Much publicity about Dutch elm disease and lack of proper information make the home owner easy prey for unscrupulous "tree experts" with quick cures, or for tree removal crews looking for a quick "buck".

Do not buy any quick cures for Dutch elm disease. Do not cut down a living elm tree not shown by laboratory analysis to be infected with Dutch elm disease. When in doubt, call an established, reliable nurseryman or your county farm adviser's office.

The Mokena Book Club will go co-ed for its March meeting on Friday, March 8. The members will invite their husbands for the program, which promises to be very interesting.

The speaker for the evening, Marion Owen, will talk on the subject, "Hickory Creek Area from Prehistoric Times to 1960." As a member of one of the original families in the area, Mr. Owen has always been a student of the area's history, which has led him to some historically important discoveries of extremely old civilizations in the Hickory creek area.

The evening promises to be the highlight of the Book Club season and all regular and associate members are urged to attend along with their husbands.

Mr. and Mrs. William Welsh will host the meeting in their home.

January Big Month For Savings--Loan Business

Illinois' savings and loan associations experienced their largest January gain in savings in the 112 year history of the business in the state, Norton P. Rider, president of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, has reported.

The net savings increase in Illinois savings associations amounted to $75,833,000, compared with a gain of $66,152,000 in January 1962 and a gain of $72,798,000 in January 1961. The highest previous January savings month was in 1958 when the net gain was $72,166,000.

Mr. Rider pointed out that the January gain in savings brought savings capital balance to a total of $7,390,655,000 held by 3,160,519 investors. Investments in 675,061 loans amounting to $7,351,930,000 were primarily in first mortgage loans on homes. In addition these associations hold cash and government obligations totalling $830,643,000 and reserves of $542,744,000.

Safety of the savings dollars invested in Illinois savings and loan associations is bolstered by supervision of the Department of Financial Institutions of Illinois and the Federal Home Loan Bank System, as well as through insurance of accounts by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Total assets of the 594 savings and loan associations in Illinois as of December 31, 1962 stood at $8,790,586,000. The January increases brought the total to $8.8 billion. Mr. Rider predicts that the business will pass $9 billion in assets some time during the first half of 1963.

Hang Pictures To Complete Your Furniture Grouping

Whether pictures score a hit in your home or not often depends on how they hang.

To help you decide where and how to place pictures, Mrs. Lorraine Albright, University of Illinois home economist, gives these guides:

Hang pictures so that they will help to complete a furniture grouping or attractively fill a wall space. The lines of the pictures should carry the eye toward the surrounding furniture, not away from it. Furniture under pictures should seem to support them.

Keep pictures in scale with the furniture grouping and wall space.

Let the center of pictures rest at about eye level. If you will generally sit near the picture, its height should naturally be lower than if you will be standing or walking around the area.

Avoid a restless, broken-line look within a room by hanging pictures in a fairly even line. Sometimes it is easier to straighten the lines of the tops or centers than the bottoms. However, it is far more important for a picture to be long to a grouping than for it to be in line with a picture on another wall.

Consider the background where the picture will hang. If the picture is to show up, the background should not dominate. A common way to emphasize pictures in a becoming way is to use a mat around the print.

Avoid a step-like arrangement was conducted by a representative of the Allyn and Bacon Publishing Co.

Teacher representatives of the language arts and arithmetic curriculum committees of the Haven and Oakview schools will attend a one day workshop sponsored by the Scott, Foresman Publishing Co. to be held at Elmhurst, March 5. This conference will be devoted to the study of modern mathematics and reading programs for the sixties.

ment when grouping several pictures together. This placement often gives a feeling of unrest. On the other hand, a well-proportioned rectangular arrangement usually makes an attractive grouping.

When grouping large and small pictures over one another place the large one on top. Some art experts say that small pictures should appear to hang from the larger ones like pendants on a piece of jewelry.

Hang pictures as flat as possible so that they seem to be part of the wall. Screw eyes placed near the top of the frame help to eliminate an unwanted "3-D" effect. If a picture must be hung from a molding, use two hooks, one on each end of a piece of fish line, against the back of the picture. Fish line is clear nylon and will not detract from the picture. This method also avoids diagonal wire lines that are out of harmony with the picture frame and the structural lines of the room.

To eliminate distracting light reflection in pictures framed with glass, Mrs. Albright suggests using non-glare glass.

She says you can avoid soil marks on the wall behind pictures by putting a thumb tack on each lower corner of the on the back. Let the heads project about one-eighth inch. The air will then circulate completely around the frame, preventing dust from collecting.

Baited Hunting Charge Growing Into Big Deal

(CNS) An attack on the constitutionality of the federal migratory bird law which prohibits hunting in a baited field under both the Fourth and Fifth amendments, was unleashed Monday before U.S. District Judge Edwin A. Robson in the case of 14 suburban residents charged with violating the law Nov. 3 at the Three Rivers Hunting Club 14 miles west of Wilmington in Will County.

Judge Robson ordered briefs to be filed and set a ruling for March 26, meanwhile postponing the trial previously set for March 4, on a motion to quash the criminal information charging the statute violates the Fifth amendment by depriving them of property without due process of law, in that it does not require proof they know the field was baited, or participated in baiting it, or sets any distance from a baited field within which they may legally hunt.

The court postponed hearing also to March 26, on a second motion, by Fred. P. and Jack D. Woodall, owners of the club to suppress the physical evidence consisting of "eight grains of corn, two grains of oats, and a number of chips of corn or oats."

This was the meager evidence disclosed by defense examination last Thursday of the government's exhibits, ordered by Judge Robson on Feb. 6.

According to the motion to suppress, it was seized by Department of the Interior Inspectors Saunders, Bavin and Hopkins "without warrant or process, without permission and with out knowing or having reasonable cause to believe any law was being violated" all in violation of the Fourth Amendment.

Moreover, the Woodalls allege they believe they are "the owners of all the property described", though this might be difficult to prove because of its minuscule and well-distributed character.

The motion asks that no reference be allowed to any of this evidence during the trial because it was illegally seized. Originally Fred Woodall had expressed the belief that the evidence was even smaller, consisting of one grain of corn, and a green one at that.

Reason for all the legal fireworks is that the law permits a possible punishment of six months in jail and a $500 fine. It is the first prosecution under this section in the memory of court attaches here.

West suburban residents among the defendants are: Joseph N. Morency, Jr. 4356 Central avenue, Western Springs, an attorney with the firm of Scott, MacLeish, & Falk; James Scheer, 5441 Edgewood, La Grange; George E. Wittekind, 4201 Grove, Western Springs; George C. Melin, 569 North Washington, Hinsdale.

Also named is Morency's brother, Scott B. Morency, 1921 Willowhill court, Northfield.

Attorneys for the defense are Edward F. O'Toole and Charles J. O'Laughlin, Assistant U. S. Attorney Charles H. Turner is prosecuting.

Winter Birds In Our Area

BY ROBERTS MANN CONSERVATION EDITOR, FOREST PRESERVE DISTRICT Feeding and watching birds in winter is a pastime or even a hobby enjoyed by thousands of people who make no pretense of being ornithologists. They have fun and learn a lot about birds. They learn how one kind differs from the others -- in habits as well as in appearance -- and that a bird may differ noticeably, in temperament or even in plumage, from others of the same species.

One of the fascinations in feeding winter birds is that each year is different from the previous one and it frequently evokes some surprises. There are varying numbers of the usual visitors -- bluejays, downy woodpeckers, cardinals, juncos, chickadees, etcetera -- but some winters you may have "aberrants": one or more holdovers of kinds that normally migrate southward in autumn -- such as the mourning dove, flicker, Carolina wren, towhee and brown thrasher.

AND THEN there may be a winter when you see a flock of cedar waxwings, perhaps including a few Bohemian waxwings. Next year there are none of those but maybe an abundance of evening grosbeaks, or of purple finches, or of pine siskins.

Such irregular migrations, called irruptions, have never been satisfactorily explained. They are mostly peculiar to a few species of colorful birds that breed in the coniferous forests of Canada and Alaska -- members of the largest of all bird families which includes the grosbeaks, buntings, finches and sparrows. In addition to the evening grosbeak and the pine grosbeak, there are five species that also visit the Chicago region irregularly.

The Purple Finch is a sparrow-like bird that is not purple. The male is rosy-red, brightest on the head and rump, as if he had been dipped in raspberry wine. The female is brownish, heavily streaked, with a broad whitish line over the eye and, like most other cousins, smaller than the male. Purple finches are seen here during most winters and sometimes in considerable numbers. They come readily to feeding boards where sunflower, hemp and millet seeds are available.

ANOTHER SPECIES frequently seen here is the little Pine Siskin. In coloring, size and actions it resembles the common goldfinch to which it is closely related. They tend to fly in flocks, undulating like the goldfinches and changing directions in unison. In summer they feed largely on fruits and insects, especially plant lice, but in winter -- like the other birds we are talking about -- they are seed eaters.

Redpolls, which make their summer homes in the far north of both hemispheres, wander southward in autumn but, altho numbers of them were seen here during the winter of 1961-62 and in 1959-60, only a few were observed this year. Redpolls look like fluffy little sparrows, streaked with brown, except that they have bright red caps on their foreheads, black chins, and the male has a pinkish breast. They are friendly seed-eaters that sometimes flutter onto a feeding board like falling leaves.

MOST DISTINCTIVE of our occasional winter visitors are the crossbills. They have scissor-like bills with the upper mandible curved and crossing downward over the lower one. Peculiarly adapted for extracting seeds from the cones of pines, spruces and other cone-bearing trees, those bills and their feet are used in clambering about like little parrots. The male Red Crossbill is brick red -- a unique color -- with a dusky tail and dusky wings without any wing bars. The female is olive gray, with a yellowish rump and underparts. The male White-winged Crossbill is rosy pink with a black tail and two broad white bars on his black wings. During the Audubon Christmas bird census this winter, 11 red crossbills were observed at Morton Arboretum. The white-winged crossbills are seldom seen here.

Demands On Deep Wells Sends Water Levels Down

(CNS) — Water pumping from deep wells in the Chicago region increased 23 per cent in three years, a report published this week by the Illinois State water survey reveals.

In 1961, Chicago region users pumped a total of 96.5 million gallons of water a day from deep artesian wells, an increase of more than 18 million gallons a day over 1958.

Robert T. Sasmán, who heads the Water Survey's regional office at Naperville, says the 1961 pumping is also an increase of five per cent over 1960, which is a rate five times greater than the average annual increase rate for the years 1864-1959.

As a result of increasing pumping, excessive declines in water levels have occurred in some deep wells in the region which includes the counties of Cook, DuPage, McHenry, DeKalb, Lake, Kane, Kendall, and parts of Grundy and Will.

The report shows that 1961 water-level declines in wells averaged 11 feet and ranged from eight feet in the Aurora area to 15 feet in the Des Plaines and Elmhurst areas. Since 1864, when the first well was drilled in Chicago and water flowed freely at the surface, artesian pressure has declined 670 feet below the surface. Within 20 years, the report predicts, pumping levels exceeding 1,000 feet below surface will be common.

Heavy pumping from deep wells in concentrated at six centers, the Chicago, Joliet, Elmhurst, Des Plaines, Aurora and

"Juke Dance" A Success --To Be Annual Affair

MRS. EDWARD HOVI
Telephone 479-5740
The first annual Arbury Hills Civic Association "juke dance" was held at the V.F.W. Hall in Mokena on Saturday night, Feb. 23. It was decided by all those present that, while the dance was only a modest financial success, it was indeed a great social success, and well worth repeating.

The Summit Hill Parent-Teacher Group will hold their March meeting at the school on next Thursday, March 14, at 8:00 P.M.

There will be just a short business meeting during which there will be a nominating committee established to make up a slate for the up-coming spring elections of the group.

Following the business meeting there will be a panel discussion. The panel is to be made up of Supt. H. James Wrath; Miss Anderson, one of the first grade teachers; Mrs. Mac Donald, the other first grade teacher; Mrs. Corp, the second grade teacher; and Mrs. Schilling, the third grade teacher.

"On the Teaching of Your Child to Read," is the subject. This should be an interesting and informative discussion by teachers who have first hand practical knowledge about this subject.

This being such an all important topic, a reminder is noted for those who do not know that the Parent-Teacher meetings are open to the public, not merely to those who are members of the organization.

The First Nighters will hold their March meeting tonight, Thursday, March 7 at the home of Mrs. Charles Hecht of 9524 West Elm Avenue, at 8 o'clock.

The Teens Club will hold their first March meeting at the school on next Monday evening, March 11, from 7:30 p.m. until 10:00 p.m. Any young person from the age of 13 to 18 who resides in the Summit Hill School District 161, is eligible to join the group. The dues are $1 per six month period.

The Teens meet on the second and fourth Monday of each month. There is a short business meeting followed by dancing to records.

A second group of Arbury Hills women have joined forces to form a Bingo club which will meet on the third Thursday of each month.

The first meeting of the new group was held at the home of Mrs. Allan Dornseif of 9425 Mrs. Allan Dornseif of 9525 West Birch st. on Thursday evening, Feb. 21.

The winner of the Hostesses prize was Mrs. Richard Boothe. Mrs. Boothe will have the next meeting of the group at her home on Thursday, evening, March 21, at 8:00 P.M. Mrs. Boothe lives at 9501 West Elm Avenue.

The Arbury Hills Kindergarten Organization is preparing its second annual Pre-Easter hat sale which will be held Friday April 5. The time and place of the sale will be announced in the near future.

It was decided that there would be no meeting of the Kindergarten Organization in March and that the April meeting would be announced later.

A letter was mailed from the Kindergarten Organization pertaining to the establishment of a summer kindergarten session for Arbury Hills. The summer session will meet in the Arbury Hills school from June 5 until Aug. 2. Children eligible for kindergarten this summer will be those eligible to enter first grade in September. Those who will be six years old by Dec. 1, 1963.

If, inadvertently, someone did not receive a letter and would be interested in sending her child to kindergarten, they may contact Mrs. John Hayden at 479-9350 or Mrs. Brian Williams at 479-5771 for further information.

Mrs. Lloyd Klein of 9418 West Willow Lane returned home recently from the hospital after undergoing major surgery.

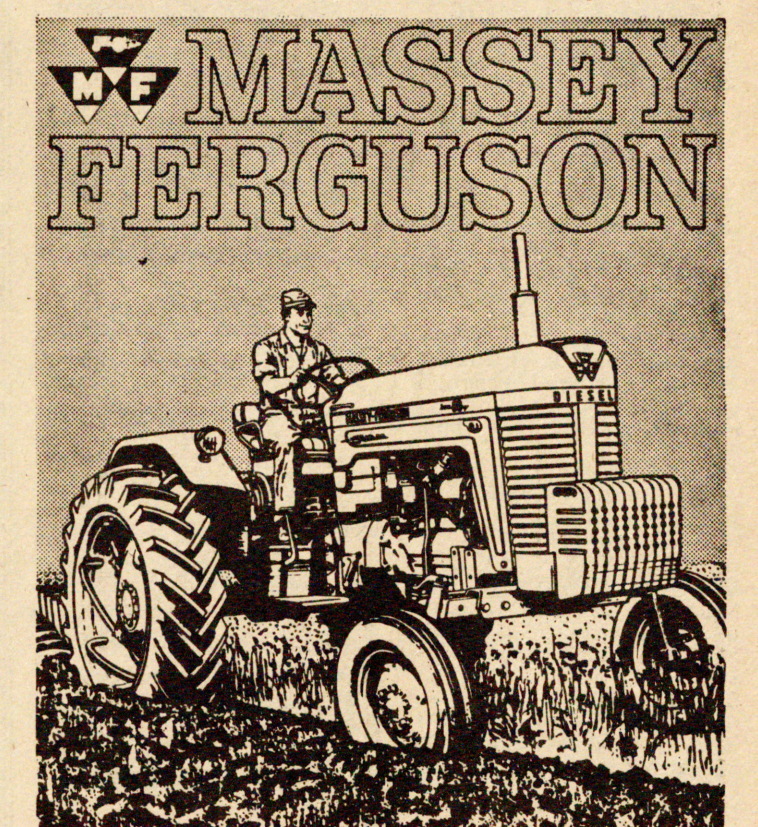

Mr. and Mrs. George Kohler, formerly of 9507 West Birch Street in Arbury Hills, announced the birth of their third child a girl, whom they named Kathleen Ann. She weighed seven pounds nine ounces at birth. The child was born in a Syracuse, N.Y. hospital on Feb. 21. The Kohlers also have two other children, both boys, Michael and Robert.

"learn, live, serve through 4-H"

1962 Marks Top Of Climb

Francis Field Provides 4-H Members With Events Center

The 1962 Will County 4-H Show marked a memorable 4-H accomplishment. For years facilities for county 4-H events had to be rented or "borrowed" from non 4-H organizations. The 1962 4-H Show was the top of a climb. County 4-H members had their own 4-H center - Fred A. Francis 4-H Field.

Interested members of the county "4-H family" met in September, 1958 to discuss the offer of a gift. As a 4-H leader, the late Fred A. Francis expressed a desire for a county 4-H center.

Members of Mr. Francis' family wanted his desire to come true so offered 18 acres of farm land near New Lenox for the 4-H center. A majority of persons attending the 1958 meeting agreed to accept the gift. An organization, the Will County 4-H Junior Fair Association, was formed to develop policy and be responsible for the county 4-H center operation. Mrs. Norman Krapf, Manhattan, was elected president of the new county 4-H organization.

Early in 1959, plans for raising funds for a building program were made. With volunteer leadership, money was obtained from a county fund drive later that year. Campaign co-chairman, Fred Kurtz of Joliet, announced the drive's results at the 1959 county 4-H Achievement night. Plans were also announced for a building program in 1960.

Building and grounds committee chairman, Glenn Vally of New Lenox, provided his building experience and background. In 1960, a concrete block utility building was completed. Also construction of a 14,000 square foot livestock shelter and indoor show ring was completed that year. The 1960 Agriculture 4-H Show was held at Fred A. Francis Field. This was the first county 4-H event to be held at the new 4-H center.

During 1961 local 4-H clubs were holding money raising events. The second 4-H show was held at Francis 4-H Field. However, home ec project members had their show at the Will County Fair at Peotone. Mrs. Robert Baumann of Plainfield became the new chairman of the 4-H Junior Fair Association. Toward the end of 1961, plans were announced for a 4-H capital fund drive under the leadership of H.G. Carr of Joliet.

Many Joliet area business leaders provided leadership and money for a year-round 4-H exhibition building at the 4-H center. The 80,000 square foot building was completed in time for the 1962 4-H Show.

Our Cover Feature

Featured on this year's 4-H supplement cover is a photo of two 4-H members and a businessman. The three are exploring career literature. The picture not only represents a healthy businessman and 4-H relationship, but emphasizes Will County's Career Exploration Program.

Pictured are 4-H'ers Lynn Spencer of the Lockport Loyal 4-H club and Dale Miesinger of the Barbers Corner 4-H club of Lemont. At center is Charles Swanberg, whose implement firm at Mokena has provided tractors and equipment for the annual 4-H Tractor Training Program. Swanberg, who also serves as mayor of Mokena, was instrumental in carrying out the fund drive which has provided Will County 4-H'ers with facilities at Fred Francis 4-H Field.

According to Joseph Jopek, Will County assistant farm adviser, 4-H members received a list of occupations last month. Each member was asked to indicate their choices of career. Persons working in jobs which the 4-H members indicate as career choices will be contacted to serve as career resource guides. They will spend some time with the youngsters while on-the-job if possible. The 4-H member will have a chance to talk with a person employed in their career choice and to observe the person at work.

Jopek reports that this type of person-to-person career exploration means much more to a youngster than a series of career lectures.

Thru visiting with these people and learning how they got started in their careers plus the educational backgrounds they consider desirable will do much to help 4-H members reach a big decision in their life -- their career. The will County 4-H Career Activity, with cooperating business concerns and leaders, will help make this decision an easier one.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

To 4-H Club Members:

My congratulations to you for your outstanding achievements of the past year, and for your ambitious plans in 1963. Your theme for National 4-H Club Week, March 2 through 9 -- "Young Citizens in Action" -- sets an excellent keynote. Surely today, a citizenry of all ages -- informed and in action -- is more important than ever to the strength and welfare of our nation.

In your unique 4-H "learn by doing" program, you acquire new skills and find better ways of applying science to your endeavors wherever you live, in town or country. In this way you grow in maturity and soundness of judgment that builds true leadership.

America needs young people preparing mentally, morally, spiritually, and physically for the gigantic tasks that lie ahead. As you train through 4-H for your future, and explore careers for a significant role in tomorrow's world, I trust that you will continue to develop your head, heart, hands, and health.

My best wishes to you, and to all who guide you -- your parents, leaders, and many 4-H friends. May other youth join you in your worthy goal of good citizenship in your communities and across our land.

Sincerely,

HONEGGERS' GET EXTRA GAINS!

Minerals are necessary for health and even for life itself. The bones of livestock are composed chiefly of mineral. Minerals are also essential in the makeup of an animal's blood and muscles. They are also important as body regulators and are essential elements in various hormone and enzyme systems. The lack of any one mineral can cause slow gains, poor feed conversion and in some cases, even death. Realizing the importance of proper mineral fortification, Honeggers have spent years developing and testing NEW Mineral Pellets. These new products are designed for the convenience of the livestock man in his feed lot.

Activities, Projects Keep Country Charms Club Busy

Country Charms 4-H Club of Lockport, as a community project at Christmas time, made cookies, then packaged them and sang carols in the Salem Home for the Aged in Joliet. Each resident received a package of cookies. Members sang in the chapel as well as in the halls, then visited the rooms. They then returned to Lockport for their Christmas party at the home of Patty Brubaker.

This was but one of the many activities carried on throughout the year by the Country Charms.

The club is currently planning their window display. They will take part in the Share-the-Fun. Ten of the members recently attended the Rally held at Francis 4-H field.

Club members take an annual tour in connection with their projects and in the past have toured in Hinsdale Health Museum, Pepperidge Bakery, Kaufman Dress Factory, Hart, Shaffner & Marx tailoring shop and visited the Oakbrook shopping center.

Last year, money making projects helped 13 girls attend camp at Shaw-waw-nas-see.

State and county outstanding award winners last year were Audrey Brown, Alice Brown, Linda Ward, Mary Mandeville, Lorelei Lorenzen, Janet Onderisin, Paul McCann and Carolyn Bradley.

Officers of the club are Janet Onderisin, president; Lorelei Lorenzen, vice president; Paula McCann, secretary; Jill Wilson, treasurer. Alice Brown leads recreation.

Club is sponsored by the Homer-Lockport Homemakers Extension Unit.

Meetings are held the first and third Fridays of each month. Mrs. Gailen Holloway supervises the sewing projects and Mrs. Alvin Welter takes care of the cooking skills.

Then And Now With The Clever Maidens

Looking back on the history of the Plainfield Clever Maidens we see the original club as it was in 1948 consisting of all the girls in the Plainfield area. When the club reached its capacity in 1951, a split was made. Eighth graders and above retained the original name and club. The new club formed was the Stitch 'N Stir, which later divided into the Ten Year Clovers and the Guided Misses.

Today's club consists of 22 members with various projects ranging from food to clothing and handicraft which includes knitting, copper enameling, aluminum trays, stuffed toys and candles.

Other projects are photography, baby sitting, table covers and flower arrangements.

Clever Maidens take part in numerous activities including the Homecoming Parade with a float that won first prize in its category. A hayrack ride through the country with refreshments served at the home of Paula Baumann held in the fall. Caroling to various shut-ins around the town followed by a party at the home of Joyce Bundy. Contributing food for a Christmas basket for a needy family. Working on various community drives under the guidance of Mrs. Ernest Johnson and Mrs. Robert Baumann our leaders.

The club is well represented by its able officers, Betty DeClue, president; Kathy Johnson, vice-president; secretary, Jackie Bennett; treasurer, Sharon Lyons; reporter, Patty Stukel. Lynn Chamberlin and Mary Ann Baskerville are in charge of the scrapbook. Other chairmen include Paula Baumann, citizenship; Mary Kay Bourrie, program; Joyce Bundy, Mary Rademacher and Roberta Jett, recreation; and Diane Fay, music.

Club is also represented by its Federation delegates which are Mary Ann Baskerville and Pat Graham. Serving as junior leaders are Joyce Bundy for the Clever Maidens, Paula Baumann, for the Stitch 'N Stir and Betty DeClue and Mary Kay Bourrie the Ten Year Clovers.

What the future holds in store is hard work directed towards the Window Display and Share-the-fun.

4-H MARKET LAMB SHOW WINNER CIRCLE - At the 1962 Will County 4-H Market Lamb Show, Dave Meisinger, Lemont, captured the Pen of Three Championship. Billy Francis, Wilmington, exhibited the Grand Champion Lamb. For Dave this was his sixth year as a top lamb show winner, quite an impressive record. Dave raises Hampshire sheep in partnership with his father. Dave is brother of Dale Meisinger our 4-H boy on this year's cover.

This is an agricultural club for boys whose projects include dairy, beef, swine, poultry, gardening and photography.

The Orland Boys are very active in the county activities, participating in judging, share the fun, window display, public speaking, achievement programs, and many others. A number of the older members take part in 4-H Federation programs.

Barbers Corner Merges With Sweet & Sharps

Barbers Corner 4-H Club, an agriculture club, has now joined with the Sweet & Sharp Club, the Home Ec. club of DuPage Twp. Orman Boldt is still leader. Other leaders are Mrs. Orman Boldt and Mrs. Lloyd Eichelberger who were leaders of the Home Ec. club. Junior leaders are Rich Maas and Sylvia Umbrassas. There are 30 members in the club. The club is offering both agriculture and home economics projects to the members.

New officers for this coming year are: President, Dale Miesinger; Vice president, Joe Silivka; Secretary, Joann Eichelberger; Treasurer, Dave Miesinger; Reporters, Pauline Jungels and Lianne Blasing; Refreshment chairman, Barb Haggerty; Recreation chairman, Pat Moeller; Federation Delegate, Rich Maas and Fred Oltz. The club voted to keep the Barbers Corner name.

Joe Jopek, Assistant Farm Adviser, told the leaders that Barbers Corner's club has had the most poultry projects for the past two years of all clubs in Will County. The club has had a member winning Reserve Grand Champion for two years. Clarita Boldt won this award last year.

The club took a part in the CROP Collection last winter. They are planning in participating again this winter.

They are now planning a window display which will be at the laundromat in the Hampton Park Shopping Terrace from March 2 through 9.

4-H IS FUN! This is Day Camp at Francis Field in Will County. If you were there on 2 days in the summer of 1962, you would have seen "Hobos" like these. (Strappazon photo)

Added Projects Slated For Tinley Hustlers

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bussian, former members of the Tinley Hustlers, took over the leadership of the club last November. The club meets each month in one of the homes of the 20 club members.

Gary Berner is president of the club; Barbara Lucchesi, vice president and program chairman; Theresa Luccesi, secretary; Kean Kappel, treasurer; Linda Manzke, reporter.

The Hustlers are starting several new projects this year including horsemanship which Mrs. Bussian will instruct; Mrs. James Vonesh will instruct the group on dog showing, handling and training. Mrs. Jack Vandenburg is the instructor for handicrafts.

Raising steers, baby beef, dairy cattle and sheep are a few of the many farm projects undertaken. James Vonesh won a trophy last summer at the South Cook County 4-H Fair held at Francis Field, New Lenox, for his prize sheep. At this same fair, Mrs. Bussian, the former Sharon McNamara, won a trophy for horsemanship and Wayne Bussian earned a trophy for skilled driving.

Achievements Mark 1962 Will County 4-H Picture

Will County 4-H'ers in 1962 demonstrated their motto, "to make the best better" as more truth than motto. In every phase of 4-H from projects to leadership development county 4-H members used the four H's, Head - Heart - Hands, and Health, for the improvement of their clubs, communities and country. Included here are a few 1962 major accomplishments of county 4-H'ers.

Judging or selection provides members with decision-making experience. The county's 4-H dog judges at the 1962 International Dog Show gained the top 4-H division place. This was the second year a Will County youngster was top 4-H dog judge. Ramona Kaatz of Joliet won in 1961 and Judy West of Lockport won this year. There was also county 4-H dairy, livestock, poultry, and vegetable judging teams. Livestock and poultry teams got B ratings at the state 4-H judging events while the vegetable team received an A rating. The vegetable judging team has won A ratings for several years.

In demonstrations and public speaking, county 4-H'ers showed their abilities to express themselves. County demonstrators Judy West of Lockport and Roberta Brossman of Manhattan received A and B ratings respectively in the state competition. Janet Johnson's dairy food demonstration won top county and state honors. Public speakers Richard Urbon of Monee and Sheila Sturm of Elwood both received A ratings at the state public speaking event.

State Fair Sheep exhibitors, Bill Francis of Wilmington, Edward and Connor B. Shaw III of Monee, kept the county's exhibit area spotless with no direct assistance or insistence from their leader. Their goal - to have first choice of sheep pens next year and the Governor's trophy. They achieved both. Marilyn Matasovic of Mokena exhibited the 1962 Junior Department's Champion Hereford Female of the State Fair.

The 1962 Will County 4-H Show was held at Fred A. Francis Field with home ec and agriculture 4-H'ers exhibiting their projects together. The joint venture resulted from the unselfish leadership of H.G. Carr and other civic leaders. Carr, with the assistance of A.A. Wicklein, Will County Farm Adviser, provided the leadership to raise money for the new Exhibition Building at Francis 4-H Field. Joliet business and professional leaders contributed money and materials. Also local 4-H clubs helped raise money for the new building.

At 4-H Achievement Night, Will County 4-H'ers reaped their share of state 4-H awards. Dale Meyer of Manhattan was selected as the state's top 4-H swine member. His prize - an all-expense paid trip to National 4-H Club Congress. Lynn Spencer of Lockport and Raipn Jackson of Wilmington were the state's top citizenship winners. Judy West of Lockport brought the state's top dog project member award to Will County for the second year. Of the 4-H Key Awards distributed throughout Illinois, Will County captured more than its share.

1962 marked a hundred years of the United States Department of

Hog Carcass Project Slated For 4-H'ers

Pork comes from all kinds of pigs - skinny pigs, fat pigs, big pigs, small pigs, white pigs and black pigs plus other colors too. However, a pig's color does not indicate the quality of pork it will provide when slaughtered. Usually size or body condition has no effect on the percent of lean cuts available either. A market pig's mother (sow) and father (boar) play a big role in the amount of lean pork cuts provided by the pig. A larger percent of the carcass weight which is ham or loin also is influenced by a market pig's parents.

To guide Will County 4-H pork producers in their swine breeding programs, a new activity will be offered this year. Most of the activity will take place at the 1963 Will County 4-H Show July 30, 31, and August 1. Known as the hog carcass activity, the event will give 20 swine project members some evaluation of their project.

Members entered will show their animals at the show. Because of a limitation of facilities, only 20 swine members can each enter one pig. The animals, after judging, will be taken to Krueger's Locker Plant at Peotone and slaughtered. After slaughtering, the dressed carcasses will be evaluated by a meat expert. He will grade the carcasses on the percent of lean cuts for each carcass. Results will be announced and the carcasses placed according to their final evaluation score. Plans include exhibition of the carcasses at the 4-H show, if possible.

Assistant Farm Adviser Joseph Jopek says that over 20 swine project members have entered the activity. He also is encouraging swine members to enter the 4-H Ton Litter Activity. This activity involves raising a ton of pork from one litter in 170 days. Each member with a ton litter will receive recognition at a later date.

Will County people suggested the hog carcass class. County 4-H leaders are providing the leadership and technical assistance. County 4-H swing project members will be able to select breeding stock from the results with less guessing. And of course, some county homemaker will be buying better quality pork because Will County 4-H swine producers took a few steps forward.

It's Dogs, Dogs, Dogs With Klover K-9 Club

The Klover K-9 4-H club was organized in January of 1961 under the leadership of Mrs. E.C. Olsen. Klover K-9 members participated in many 4-H and non 4-H activities during this year. One of the main features of the year was a benefit pet show sponsored by the club. Ramona Kaatz put the topping on the year's work when she won the state 4-H Dog Care and Training award, a wrist watch. In November 1961, Mrs. E.C. Olsen was honored at the State Leader's Recognition Banquet at the Hotel St. Nicholas in Springfield, Ill.

After several months of studying how to judge dogs, the Will County Klover K-9 4-H club, along with 4-Hers from Cook County, participated in a county 4-H dog judging contest. Chosen to represent Will County at the international dog judging contest in Chicago were Mary Beth DelFose, Elizabeth Madden, Mike Palmer and James Chladek. At the International, Judy West, a representative of Will County, was chosen highest scoring 4-Her and second in the group of 48 contestants. Another member Elizabeth Madden, placed second in the 4-H division.

April brought 4-H Share-The-Fun again. Klover K-9's played out the idea of "What a 4-H Dog Would Take To The Moon." This skit was interesting, not only to the audience, but also for the members to prepare.

In June, Paula Sandberg represented the club at State 4-H Club Week at the University of Illinois.

The club's second annual benefit pet show was held in late June. This year's pet show brought more entries. Bab Baratto of Chicago Heights was judge at this year's show. The Best in Show was taken by Diane Houser of Clarendon Hills with her Schnauzer, "Kleina."

Klover K-9's were also represented at the 4-H Rally, Older 4-H camp, County Public Speaking and Demonstration contests. The club's representative to the demonstration contest, Judy West, was chosen to represent Will County at the State Fair Demonstration Contest where she received an A Rating.

August brought 4-H fair time and Robert Martwick, of Lombard, Ill., was judge. Champion 4-H dog exhibitors were James Tengdin, Mary Lou Kurth and Judy West. Members and their families also enjoyed a day of bowling, followed by a picnic at the 4-H Field during August.

In September, Cynthia Alberico, Mary Beth DelRose, Elizabeth Madden and Judy West presented obedience and grooming demonstrations at the Farm-Home Science Show at the University of Illinois.

At the 1962 Achievement Night, Judy West was honored with the State 4-H Dog Care and Training award, bringing this watch award to Will County for the second consecutive year.

The club's achievement night was held in December. Joseph Jopek, assistant farm adviser, presented the awards and premiums. Presentations were followed by three speakers, E. C. Olsen on cocker judging, Mrs. Walter Houchin on dachshund judging and Jack Riter on boxer judging.

A couple of the club members have been doing very well in open dog show. Jane Tengdin acquired the first point on her St. Bernard and has placed high in several junior showmanship classes. Judy West also acquired the first point on her Cocker Spaniel and showed him to Best in Match in

Orland Eager Beaverettes Trace History

This club started five years ago as a club for boys and girls as the Orland Eager Beavers. The first year, membership was between 35 to 40 and soon they had to split.

The boys stayed as the Orland Eager Beavers and the girls formed the Orland Eager Beaverettes. Mrs. Marvin Cooper served as leader for both.

Charles Homan started as a leader of the boys club two years ago. The club broke up this year and the boys with animals joined the Orland Boys.

Orland Eager Beaverettes, with 24 members, meet the second Monday of each month in the Orland Methodist church from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Officers this year are president, Elaine Sheehan; vice president, Betty Breitbarth; secretary, Marianne Cooper; treasurer, Kathy Show; reporter, Marianne Cooper; recreation chairman, Claudia Breitbarth; song leader, Ann Sheehan; federation delegate and junior leaders, Elaine Sheehan and Claudia Breitbarth. Leaders with Mrs. Cooper are Mrs. Ralph Show and Mrs. Clarence Kelsey.

The club centers around agriculture and home economics. In agriculture all members carry handicraft, this year being smocked pillows or bird cages.

Our first year we taught leather; second year metal; third, plastic flowers; fourth, wood fiber flowers.

In November and December the club made the Kissing Ball which they sold chances on.

In agriculture, members also have beef, dairy, rabbits, turkeys and garden projects. In home economics, the projects range from You Learn to Bake to advanced sewing.

Clover Belles Leader Marks 26 Years Of Service

Mrs. Katherine Ihlenfeld, co-leader of the Clover Belles, has been active in 4-H work for 26 years, longer than any other leader in Cook County. She and Mrs. Irwin Hoyer are leaders of the 13 girls in the Clover Belles Club.

The Orland Park Homemakers Extension Unit sponsors the club which meets once a month in the girls' homes.

Officers of the club are: Janice Gow, president; Diane Campbell, vice president; Jean Schilling, secretary; Carol Monson, reporter. Carol Monson and Jean Schilling act as junior leaders for the club.

Clover Belles are an agricultural and home economics group. In the spring, the girls will begin their flower and home gardening projects. They are now working on individual projects including cooking, sewing and handicraft. The club has been designated as a 100% Achievement club.

Carol Monson is a county outstanding member; Jean Schilling and Candy Pettit are county project honor members. Jean Schilling was a Cook County finalist in pastry baking and she competed at the State Fair.

Wanted! More Adults For Leader Roles

"Wanted! Responsible adults who like boys and girls. Job as 4-H Club leader. No salary. Must take pay in smiles and satisfaction of job well done. Apply at Cooperative Extension Service Office, 201 North Dunton Avenue, Arlington Heights. No experience necessary. We train you on the job."

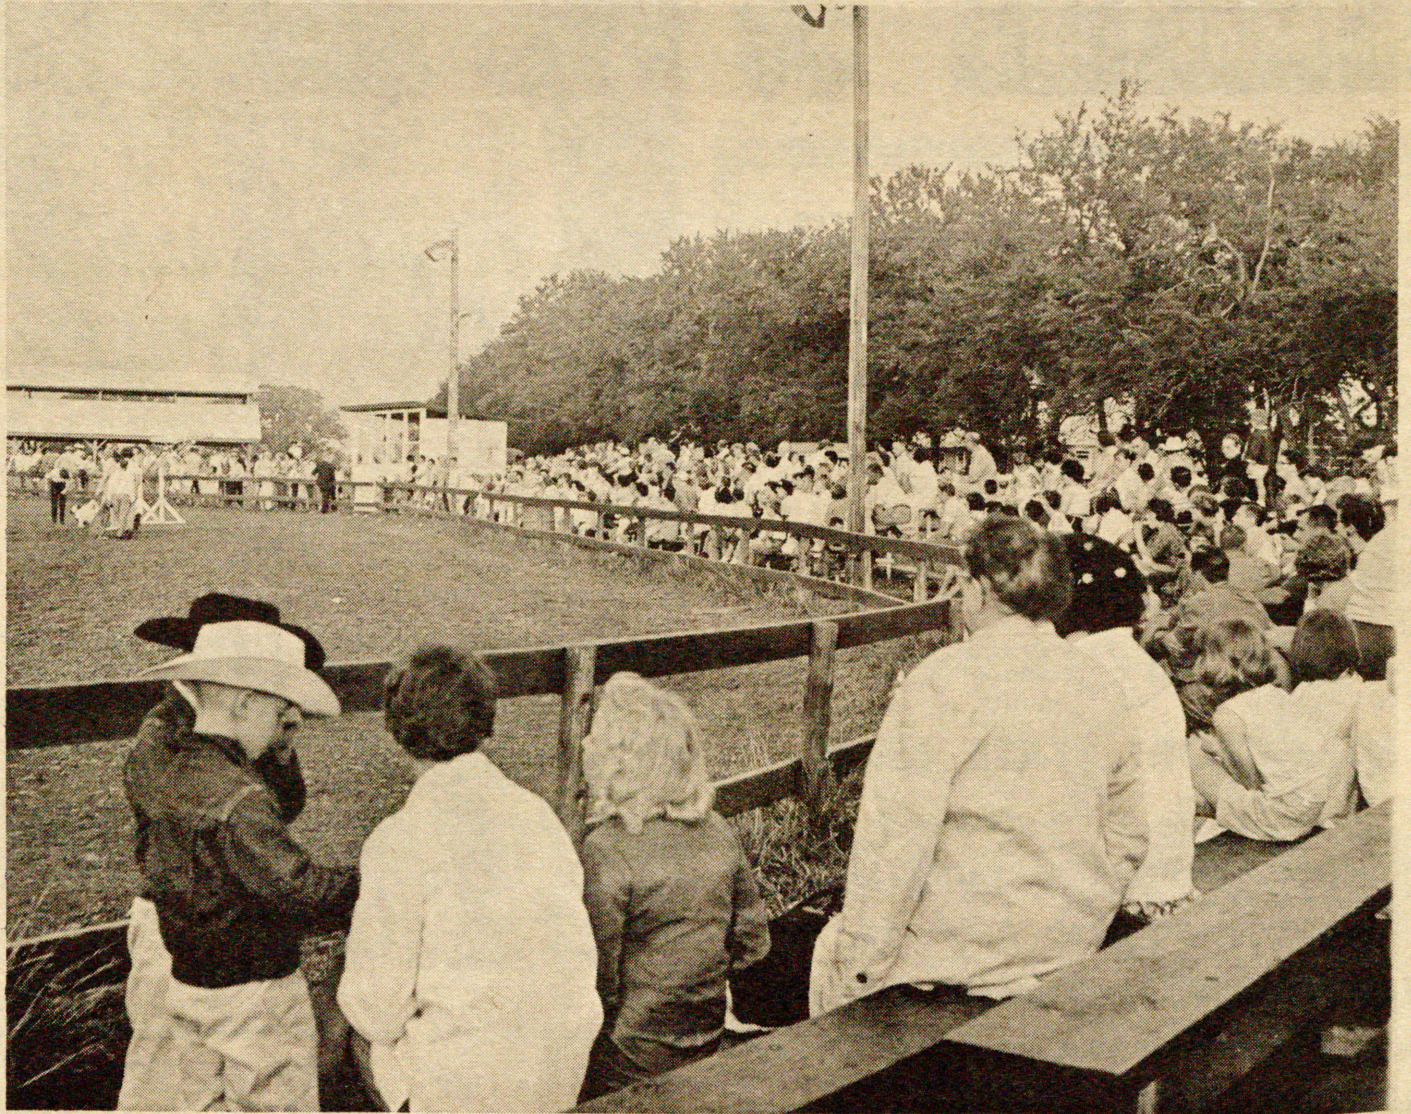

Will you answer the want-ad? 175 men and women in Cook county have applied and been accepted, reports Bill Whiteside, county farm adviser. But there are still vacancies. There are still boys and girls of 4-H Club age in the country, towns and cities of Cook county who can't belong to a 4-H Club because there is no adult leader to work with them.

They can't enroll in project work and get help in such things as vegetable and flower gardening, photography, food preparation and preservation, safety or entomology.

Whoever does apply for the job of leader must be willing to give time, energy, and know-how. On-the-job leaders declare the "pay" is high. They say it comes in watching boys and girls grow in knowledge, skill and self-confidence. That's better than money and it's something money can't buy.

Will you answer this want-ad for 4-H leaders? For further information, contact Bill Whiteside, 6657 South Street, Tinley Park or Robert E. Hood, 201 North Dunton Avenue, Arlington Heights.

Field is complete with a sound and lighting system, bleachers, and announcer's stand. The New Lenox Riding Club provided these facilities. (Strappazon Photo)

A member of the Wesley 4-H Hustlers, Ron is building a Shorthorn herd as a 4-H project. He is also active in other county 4-H activities. In 1961 he represented Illinois at a national demonstration contest.

Young Urbon and Miss Sturm represented Will County at the state event and both received A ratings. (Strappazon Photo)

Can I Become A 4-H'er?

Would you like to be one of the 2 1/3 million youngsters in the 4-H Clubs in the United States? Well, here's how?

First, if you know a 4-H'er or a 4-H leader just call or talk to them. They will be more than happy to tell you all about it. If you don't know any one in 4-H, call the County Home Adviser or Farm Adviser's office in your county.

Any boy or girl between 10 and 21 years of age may join a 4-H club. No dues are charged. No uniforms are required. No extra equipment or materials are necessary for many projects.

Next you must fill out an enrollment card and have the leader of the club you are joining okay it and sign it. This is important. There could be no 4-H clubs without leaders.

Main requirement will be a willingness to learn by doing. Learning will be in the area of your choice. These areas are called projects. Every 4-H'er must be enrolled in at least one.

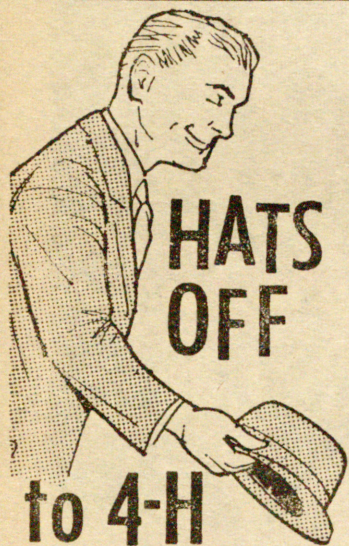

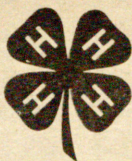

During the 4-H club year, you will have to give a talk or demonstration before your club. This might be very difficult at first. But, later, talking to a group is not nearly so hard. So you are again learning by doing.

You must attend two-thirds of the 4-H meetings that your club has. This will be fun. After all, after a business meeting and the talks and demonstrations given and directed by your friends, most 4-H Clubs have recreation. The business meeting and the talks are interesting and the recreation is even more fun. So, going to meetings is not a chore. It's fun.

Last requirement on the list is also quite interesting. At county shows, 4-H'ers exhibit their projects. It might be a pie or a pig, a dress or a basket of vegetables, a greeting card or a chicken. But each one must exhibit his project at least once and most 4-H'ers do this at the county show.

Still want to join 4-H? Why don't you?

4-H TRAINS YOUTH

OUR HEARTIEST BEST WISHES TO
ALL 4-H MEMBERS

We are extremely proud of the fine work done by the 4-H groups of our community. Truly worthy of our applause and support are youth working for the betterment of our community ... our nation.

Longer, Better 4-H Show

This year, the Will County 4-H Show will be expanded to a 3-day show (July 30, July 31, and Aug. 1, 1963). This is to give more time for the 4-H'ers to exhibit their projects. Also, it will give the public more time to see the 4-H'ers and what they can do.

In the evenings, the exhibits will be open. Also, on the third night, a show of champions will be given.

Included will be the best food and agriculture demonstrations, the best public speakers and master of ceremony, the best Share-the-Fun acts, and the 50 top girls in Clothing modeling their garments.

Stitch 'N Stir Provides Well Balanced Program

A well balanced program assures a successful 4-H year, so at each meeting a business session is held, followed by a program consisting of talks, demonstrations, music and some recreation.

Project work is, of course, the foundation of the club's program, but the special activities offered add life, interest and serve as the "frosting on the cake." Eager to learn more than the required project work, the girls participate in the following activities: Health, Safety, Electrical, Camping, Judging and Tours.

Members also do community project work each year. Learning to be good citizens and the development of community leadership is one of the most important aspects of 4-H club work. To make the Christmas Season more meaningful, the girls went caroling at the Pleasant Center and Lady of Angel's Nursing Homes. They also prepared a large basket of food for a needy family. Soliciting for the March of Dimes and the Heart Fund Drives the club members helped those who need help. They also put together a float for the annual Plainfield Homecoming Parade and with "The First Thanksgiving" as a theme and won first prize in the non-commercial category.

During the last 10 years, literally hundreds of girls have been members of the Stitch 'N Stir 4-H Club. Presiding over this club, which is beginning its 11th year, is Sally Rieser. She is assisted by the following girls: vice-president, Audrey Mutz; secretary, Ellen Glagola; treasurer, Jane Graham; reporter and scrapbook chairman, Cynthia Budde; recreation, Ann Cavanaugh; music, Joyce Davis; hospitality, Diann Schroeder.

Mrs. D. E. Bourrie has served as leader since the club was organized in 1952. She is assisted by Paula Baumann as junior leader.

Helping Hands Range From 10 To 21

Helping Hands 4-H club has been in existence for nine years under the leadership of Mrs. LeRoy Bauman and Mrs. William Stelter. There are about 60 girls between the ages of 10 and 21 in the club which meets once a month in the Methodist church of Tinley Park. The wide age-range works as an advantage for the girls.

Sometime after Easter, the girls will plan their annual parents dinner for 175 guests. They will do the buying, cooking and serving of the meal, after which the girls are expected to clean up the tables and kitchen.

Girls have 100 projects for the year including foods, clothing, room improvements, flower arranging, table covers and baby sitting. They will participate in Share-the-Fun again this year. Last year, their modern dance routine took them to LaGrange for the Cook County finals.

The club participates in many outside activities. The girls stuff stockings to be distributed at the annual arrival of Santa Claus, sponsored by the Recreation Commission. They worked with the 4-H federation on a display and demonstration for the 4th of July celebration held in Tinley Park and at the Fall Festival the girls assisted in the food booth.

Janice Reynolds is an outstanding member of the group, having won a blue ribbon at the South Cook County finals in flower arrangement held at the Palos Country Club. Janice went on to win a placement as first alternate at the Arlington Heights Cook County finals. Janice and her mother were then able to attend the State Fair at Springfield, for three days, where Janice attended classes and instruction in flower arranging.

Officers for the club are: Mary Alice Sterkowitz, president; Barbara Johnston, vice president; Franceska Zymantas, secretary; Dorothy Stelter, treasurer; Marilyn Bach, reporter.

Dorothy Stelter and Jean Wille serve as junior leaders for the club.

Jobs Await June Agriculture Grads

An estimated 15,000 jobs are awaiting June agricultural college graduates, offering a variety of challenging careers in modern farming, science, research, sales, services, education, journalism and marketing. Some of these jobs will be filled by former 4-H members whose work with club projects helped them decide on an agricultural career.

The million farm youths now enrolled in the 4-H agricultural program already are benefiting from special training in crops, soil conservation, entomology, livestock production, forestry, tractor operation, and the like. This work is under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the State land-grant colleges.

Doughnut Day Tops Year For Lockport Club

In 1962, one of the outstanding activities undertaken by the Lockport Loyal 4-H'ers was Lockport's annual Doughnut Day for the Salvation Army, sponsored by the club with Karen Abrams and Lynn Spencer co-chairmen.

Members of the club carried 99 projects including Foods, Clothing, Arrangements the Year Round, Pictures, Table Covers for Dining, Baby Sitting, Photography, Handicraft and Indoor Gardening. Since members ages range from 10 to 20 years, members are encouraged to enroll in any projects that they are interested in, available in the State of Illinois.

Members also participate in such activities as Health, Safety, Citizenship, Music, Public Speaking, Camping, Electrical, Share-the-Fun and Recreation.

At the County Achievement Night last fall, Lynn Spencer not only won the Will County Citizenship Award, but was selected as top girl in Citizenship in the State of Illinois for which she received a U.S. Savings Bond. Sandra McCanna was winner of the second year Junior Key Award in Will County.

Grace Petleski will represent the club at the University of Illinois for State 4-H Week. Karen Abrams and Lynn Spencer, officers in the Will County 4-H Federation, will go on the Short Course Citizenship Tour to Washington, D. C.

Present officers of the club are: Linda Hartz, president; Marsha Haller, vice president; Jackie Buchanan, secretary; Sandra McCanna, treasurer; Diane Eisenbrandt, reporter; Mary Ann Kempa, recreation chairman; Sue Bankroff, health chairman; Christine Bartels, music chairman; Diane Smith, safety chairman and Karen Abrams and Lynn Spencer, citizenship co-chairmen.

Girls in the Lockport area who are interested in 4-H are invited to attend any meeting. Mothers are always welcome.

bano and Carol Jones also went to district camp and the latter also visited the University of Illinois during State 4-H Club Week.

Named outstanding members of the club were Elaine Urbano, Gloria Kubeck and Carol Jones. Gloria and Carol received the state project honor award.

Lincoln Lassies also participate in the 4-H Federation activities. Club members meet the first and third Wednesday of every month.

Lincoln Lassies See Growth During Four Year History

Lincoln Lassies 4-H club of Lincoln Estates was formed four years ago thru the efforts of interested people who agreed to serve as club leaders.

At present, the club has an enrollment of 15 girls ranging in ages 10 to 15.

Under the supervision of their three leaders, Mrs. Frank Kovar, Mrs. Steve Kubeck and Mrs. Charles Z. Jones, the girls work on various projects specializing in foods and sewing. Mrs. Rudy Urbano, who served as a leader during the first three years, continues to assist club members with handicraft projects.

Club members participate in the various activities of the 4-H organization: Share the Fun, window display, rallies, day camp and training schools.

Officers of the club are Frances Bulanda, president; Susan Sluiter, vice president; Elaine Urbano, secretary; Carol Jones, treasurer; Gloria Kubeck, program chairman; Corinne Janard, recreation program; Carol Jones, reporter.

Nearly all of the club members attended Day Camp. Elaine Ur-

Mrs. Edward Pollack, Wilmington, and Harvey Lewis, Joliet, were honored as 4-H alumni for their continued support and interest of the 4-H program. Harvey was also selected as the state's 4-H alumni award winner. The Will County 4-H Key Club recommended the two alumni for recognition. Olin Mathieson sponsors the 4-H Alumni Award program. CONDUCT MEETING -- These officers of the New Lenox Bluebirds 4-H Club conduct their business meetings in an orderly way and follow Roberts Rules. Automotive 4-H Clubs Win Award

Three newly organized automotive 4-H clubs in Cook County won the top county award in Illinois. Boys and girls were very interested in this project of care and safety. A member must be 15 years old and under 21 years of age to join the project.

At the present time, there are three automotive 4-H clubs in the county. These clubs have only the one project and are able to give their full meeting time to the topic. These three clubs are located in Palatine, Tinley Park and Park Forest.

The first and second units will be offered during 1963. The first unit is divided into the following topics: importance of the automobile on our way of life, traffic code and your responsibility as a driver, highway safety, highway hazard hunt - a community activity, know the owner's manual (identification of parts), the engine in general - simple principles of internal combustion, what makes a car run?, carkeeping, car costs and keeping car records.

The second unit is divided into the following topics: handling your car safely on the road, the engine as a power unit, the engine needs clean air, how the fuel system works, igniting the air-fuel mix-

Anyone interested in joining may call one of the following local leaders: Al Pukszt, Ty Thompson or Warren Schultz, or the extension service office in Tinley Park or Arlington Heights.

20 4Hers To See Washington

Among Will County's 4-H program activities this year will be a trip to Washington, D.C. The county trip to the nation's capitol will center around the 4-H Citizenship Short Course, part of the educational program offered at the National 4-H Center.

Twenty county 4-H members will make the trip for 12 days during June. Plans include a two-day bus trip to Washington and a two-day return trip. Remainder of the time will be spent at the 4-H Center located in Chevy Chase, Maryland, a Washington suburb.

The 4-H Citizenship course includes a full week of tours and discussion. 4-H members taking part will tour many Washington sights such as the White House, Capitol Building, F.B.I. building, Washington Monument, Mount Vernon and Lincoln Memorial. The other phase will involve members in discussing the broad topic of citizenship. The group will study their role as citizens on the local, national and international levels.

Plans also include an overnight exchange with 4-H families in Pennsylvania on the trip to Washington. On the return trip the group will spend a night with Monogalia County, West Virginia 4-H families. The 4-H exchange will offer another opportunity for American citizens to share experiences and ideas.

Although not planned as an annual activity, the Washington trip this year will provide 4-H program ideas and materials for future years. The members taking part will share their knowledge and experiences with 4-H members and leaders throughout Will County.

Alpine Girls Boast 'Blue Ribbon Club'

Alpine Girls, under the leadership of Mrs. Harwood Stellwagen, has the distinction of being a "Blue Ribbon" club for the outstanding participation of its 35 members. They meet each month in the Maue school, Frankfort Twp.

The club has been in existence for 11 years with Mrs. Stellwagen as the leader since the club began. She is assisted in the club work by Junior Leaders Marie Meyer, Joan Stellwagen, Elaine Yunker, Janice Keneriem, Barbara Strassenberg and Diane Koleman.

Officers of the Alpine Girls are Judy Shepard, president; Kathy Doctor, vice president; Carol Bettenhausen, secretary; Pamela Koester, treasurer; Linda Sher-bra, reporter.

Club is planning a window display at Yunkers Implement, Orland Park, during 4-H week and a bake sale will be held there March 2.

The club is both a home economics and agricultural group.

Last year, Kay Maue won a handicraft trophy and went to the State Fair for her demonstration of yeast bread. Elaine Yunker, Betty Jean Stellwagen and Marie Meyer were "I Dare You Winners" for outstanding 4-H work. Elaine Yunker also won an award for her outstanding electrical project.

Each Christmas the girls make gifts for the children's home at Lake Villa.

City Youth Pace 4-H Membership

Boys and girls living in cities, towns and subdivisions are being encouraged to join 4-H Clubs along with farm youth.

Already, more than 50 per cent of 4-H members are from this "in town" group.

This means that more than 2,000 boys and girls living in towns, cities, and subdivisions participate in the many activities offered through 4-H membership in Cook County.

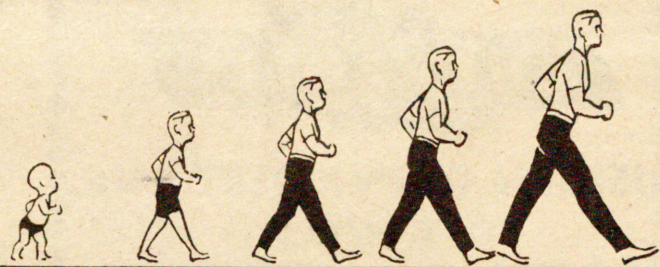

The same program is offered for all girls regardless of place of residence. They include cooking, room improvement, dress making and other home activities.

The boys' program varies, however. The city youths are offered projects in electricity, auto maintenance, garden, home-ground beautification, photography, entomology, handicraft or rabbit projects. Some of the city boys keep livestock on nearby farms and go to the country each day to take care of them.

All activities are open to 4-H members regardless of where they live. The "Share-the-Fun" talent show in May, judging contests, public speaking, and demonstration contests are some of the activities of the year.

Membership in 4-H activities is open to any boy or girl in the county between the ages of 10 and 21. Memberships are available in any of the clubs now existing in Cook County, or new clubs may be started when five members and an adult leader are interested.

GROW WITH 4-H

4-H'ers Learn, Earn Thru Many Projects

First requirement of a 4-H member is to enroll in a 4-H project. The 4-H project is the doorway to the 4-H program. The project is a good way for 4-H members to learn by doing. Many 4-H members also earn from their projects. From project earnings several 4-H members have been able to further their education. 4-H projects keep a youngster's mind and hands busy. For these reasons the 4-H project is an important part of the 4-H program.

According to Will County Assistant Home Adviser June McBroom, 4-H'ers enrolled in food preparation projects planned and prepared 36,460 dishes last year. The members served 11,216 meals giving their mothers a chance for a kitchen holiday. Freezing and canning project members preserved 2,146 quarts of foodstuffs for eventual family use.

Many county 4-H members were busy with the needle and thread or sewing machine. Produced from their sewing efforts were 1,845 various clothing prices and 2,900 room improvement articles.

Boys and girls enrolled in agriculture and related 4-H projects weren't letting grass grow under their feet. Joseph Jopek, Will County Assistant Farm Adviser, stated that 160 dairy calves, heifers and cows received the best care from dairy project 4-H'ers. In other livestock projects, 4-H'ers owned and cared for 206 beef animals, 344 sheep, 672 pigs, 51 horses and 20 dogs. Poultry and rabbit members were really busy with their projects. According to Jopek, 49 poultry 4-H members raised 4,944 birds while 27 rabbit members took care of 335 bunnies. 4-H members raised crop projects on 550 acres of

Will County's soil.

Sixty-five garden members produced vegetables on 25 acres. The number of acres may seem small but it involved a lot of hoe work. Tractor project members performed basic maintenance on 19 tractors, while others made 80 electrical articles. Auto project members cared for and kept records on 15 autos. 4-H members also made 2,474 handicraft articles.

JR. LEADERS AT CAMP -- Attending the 1963 Illinois Junior Leadership Conference at 4-H Memorial Camp, Monticello, Illinois were these Will County 4-H members. Viewing the program booklet are Jean Ann and Dale Meyer, both of Manhattan, Lynn Spencer, Lockport, Alan Heatherwick, Frankfort, and Mrs. Pat Gorman Wall. Pat is a former Will County 4-H member and was a state 4-H staff member.

WINDOW DISPLAY COMMITTEE---Looking over materials to be included in the upcoming window display project of the Country Charms 4-H Club of Lockport are Connie Welter, Barbara Pasdertz and Sandy Jungles.

Homer Fireflies Members Conclude Active Club Year

The Homer Fireflies 4-H Club has been in existence for five years. It was originally an all boys club, but became one of the few joint clubs in the county several years ago.

4-H'ers have many activities during the year besides their projects: One of the events of the year is Achievement Night. County, State, Key Club, and special awards are given away on this night. Upcoming event is the club Achievement Night where local awards are given out.

Window Displays will be up at the beginning of 4-H Week. A committee is formed to carry out the given theme, construct the display, and set it up.

The 4-H Rally is a night of fun for all members in the county. This year, grade school members played games while the high school members square danced.

Share-the-Fun is a talent night for all the clubs in the county. The Fireflies sang "Let's Get Together", accompanied by a dog that contributed to the song by howling.

In the summer the club held its tour, going to members' homes to see projects. After the tour, members went to the park for a picnic and a meeting. The Home Bureau donated hot dogs to the picnic.

All projects were shown and judged at the county 4-H show held in August. Some of the many projects shown were dogs, horses, clothing, cattle, soil and handicrafts. Ribbons are received at this time and premiums are received in the winter.

Of course, 4-H is not all activities. Generally clubs have a meeting once a month. One of the highlights of the meeting is the demonstrations. Each member must give one a year to become an Achievement member.

Fireflies are busy right now with the Window Display and a Cerebral Palsy drive which will be on the 25th of February. Soon we will be planning our act for Share-the-Fun and begin to practice.

4-H Clubs To Portray 4-H Story

Chicagoland 4-H clubs will have an exhibit at the World Flower Show at McCormick Place, March 16-24. Pictures of 4-H members and their projects will help to portray the 4-H story. The booth will be used as an information center for anyone interested in knowing more about 4-H club work.

The booth will also include other exhibits of the Cooperative Extension Service program available to Chicagoland people. The home economics program for ladies through their homemaking organizations will be explained. The ornamental horticulture program and the homeowners program will display flowering shrubs and answer questions of visitors of the show. Agriculture extension will be exhibiting their programs of help to farmers, industry, community and agricultural business. The club also received county recognition award for having one of the best health and recreation programs in Will County. Guided Misses is an all-age club, 10 to 21, giving each girl more opportunity to understand the full 4-H program.
